JUVENILE PROBATION DEPARTMENT
COUNTY OF SANTA CLARA

ANNUAL REPORT
Fiscal Year 1976-77

The Santa Clara County Juvenile Probation Department is an arm of the Juvenile Court. The Chief Juvenile Probation Officer, appointed by the Judges of the Juvenile Court, has responsibility for the operation of all Juvenile Probation services, including detention and rehabilitation services. The constant goal of the Department to reduce the number of children entering the Juvenile Justice System is reflected in continuing expansion of community-based services and delinquency prevention programs.

ASSEMBLY BILL 3121

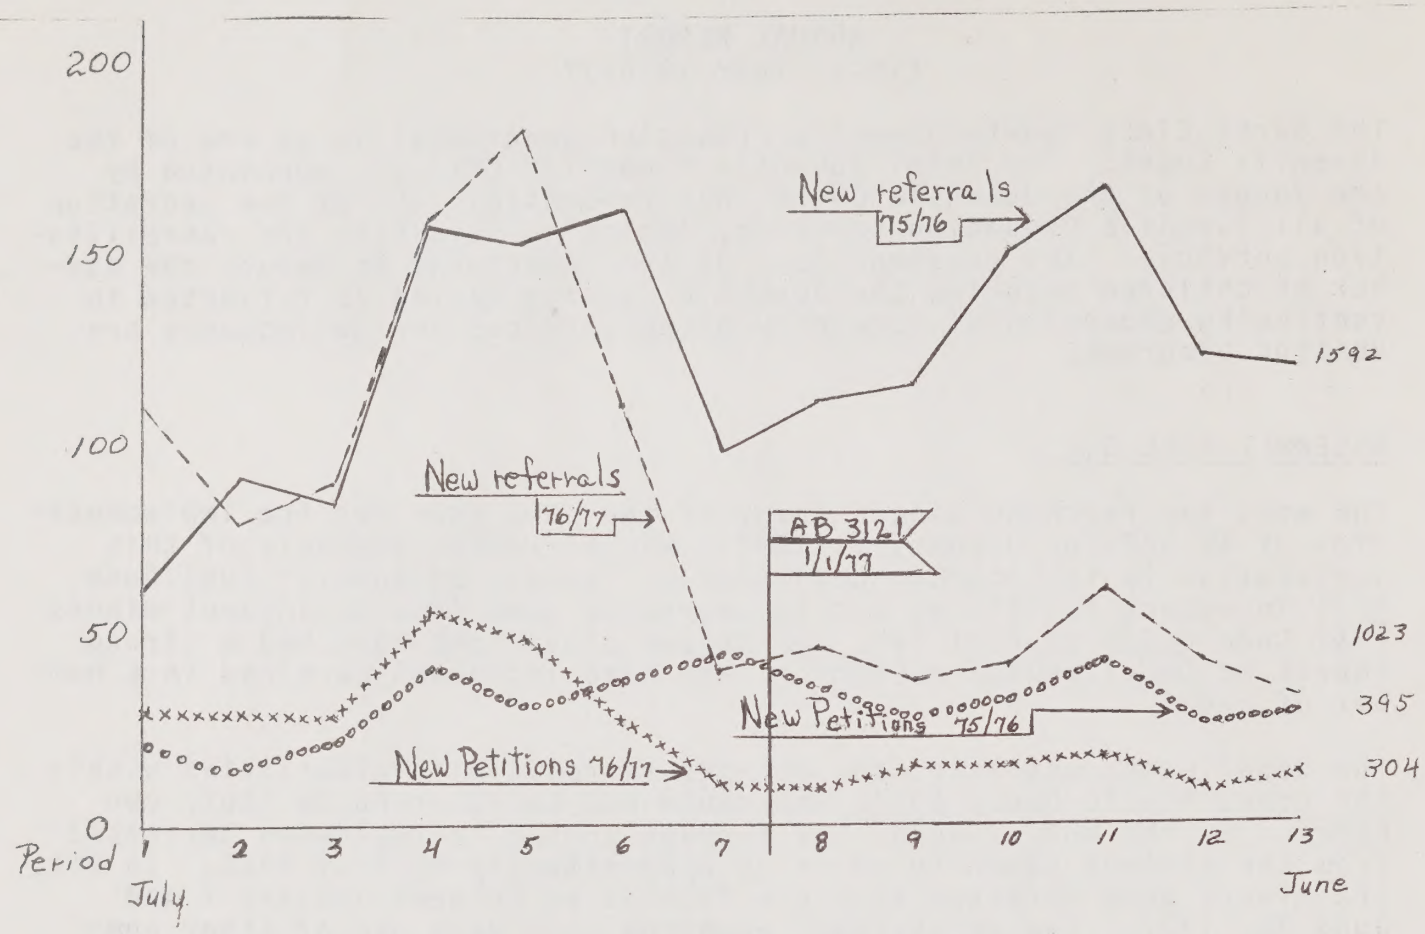
The most far-reaching single event of the past year was the implementation of AB 3121 on January 1, 1977. While primary emphasis of this legislation is to prohibit detention of "status offenders" (W&I Code 601) in secure facilities and to segregate them from delinquent minors (W&I Code 602), several less publicized provisions have had a strong impact on Departmental operations and have increased workload in a number of areas.

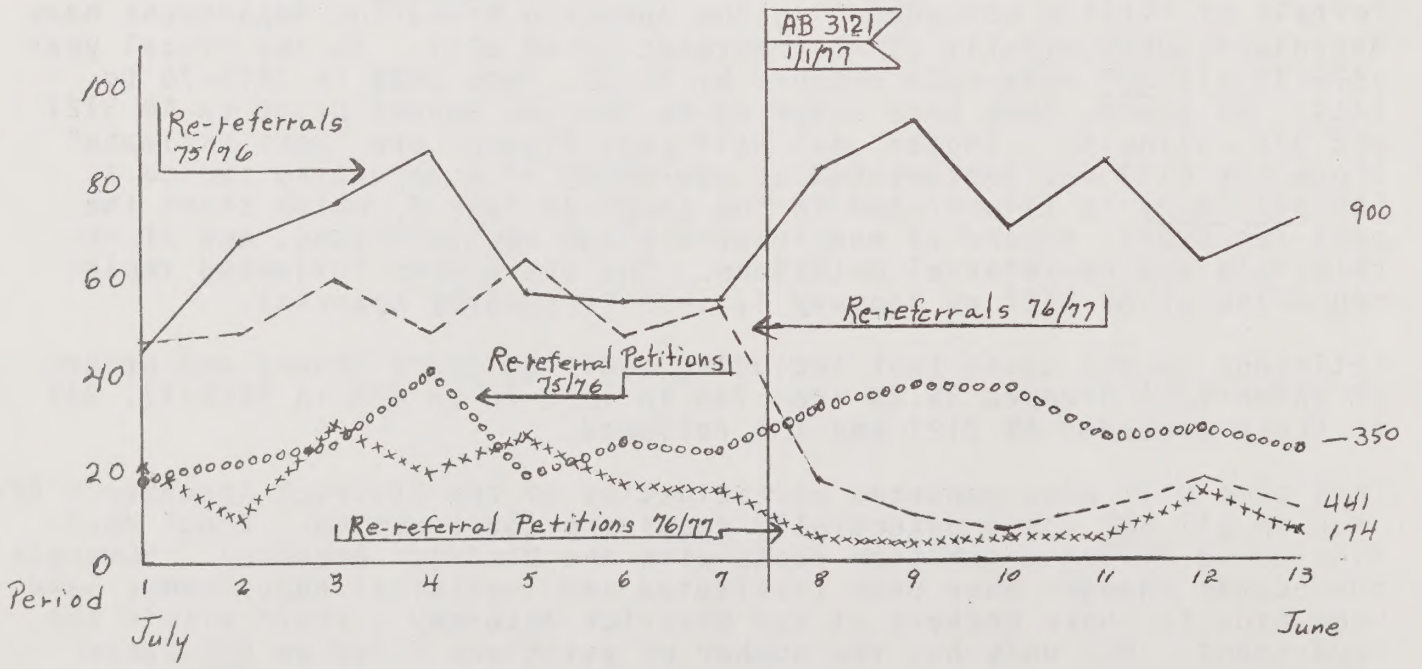
The Department contracted for non-secure residential facilities within the community to house 601's who could not be returned to their own homes. By the end of June, the average number in residence decreased from the maximum capacity of 14 to approximately half of that. In all, 183 minors were referred to these facilities between January 1 and June 30, 1977. Law enforcement agencies have made use of other community facilities offering non-secure care for 601's, and total referrals of "status offenders" to the Juvenile Probation Department have decreased substantially since enactment of AB 3121. In the fiscal year 1976-77 all 601 referrals dropped by 41.2%, from 2492 in 1975-76 to 1464. Of these, 1086 were referred in the six months prior to AB 3121 and 378 following. (Note: All half-year figures are "best estimate" since the Bill was implemented at mid-point of a reporting period.). The 601 Story is illustrated in the graph on Page 2, which shows the past two years' record of new referrals and new petitions, and of re-referrals and re-referral petitions. The sharp drop following implementation of AB 3121 on January 1, 1977 is clearly apparent.

Petitions on 601 cases (not including modified court orders and orders of detention) dropped 35.8% from 745 in 1975-76 to 478 in 1976-77. 349 of these preceded AB 3121 and 129 followed.

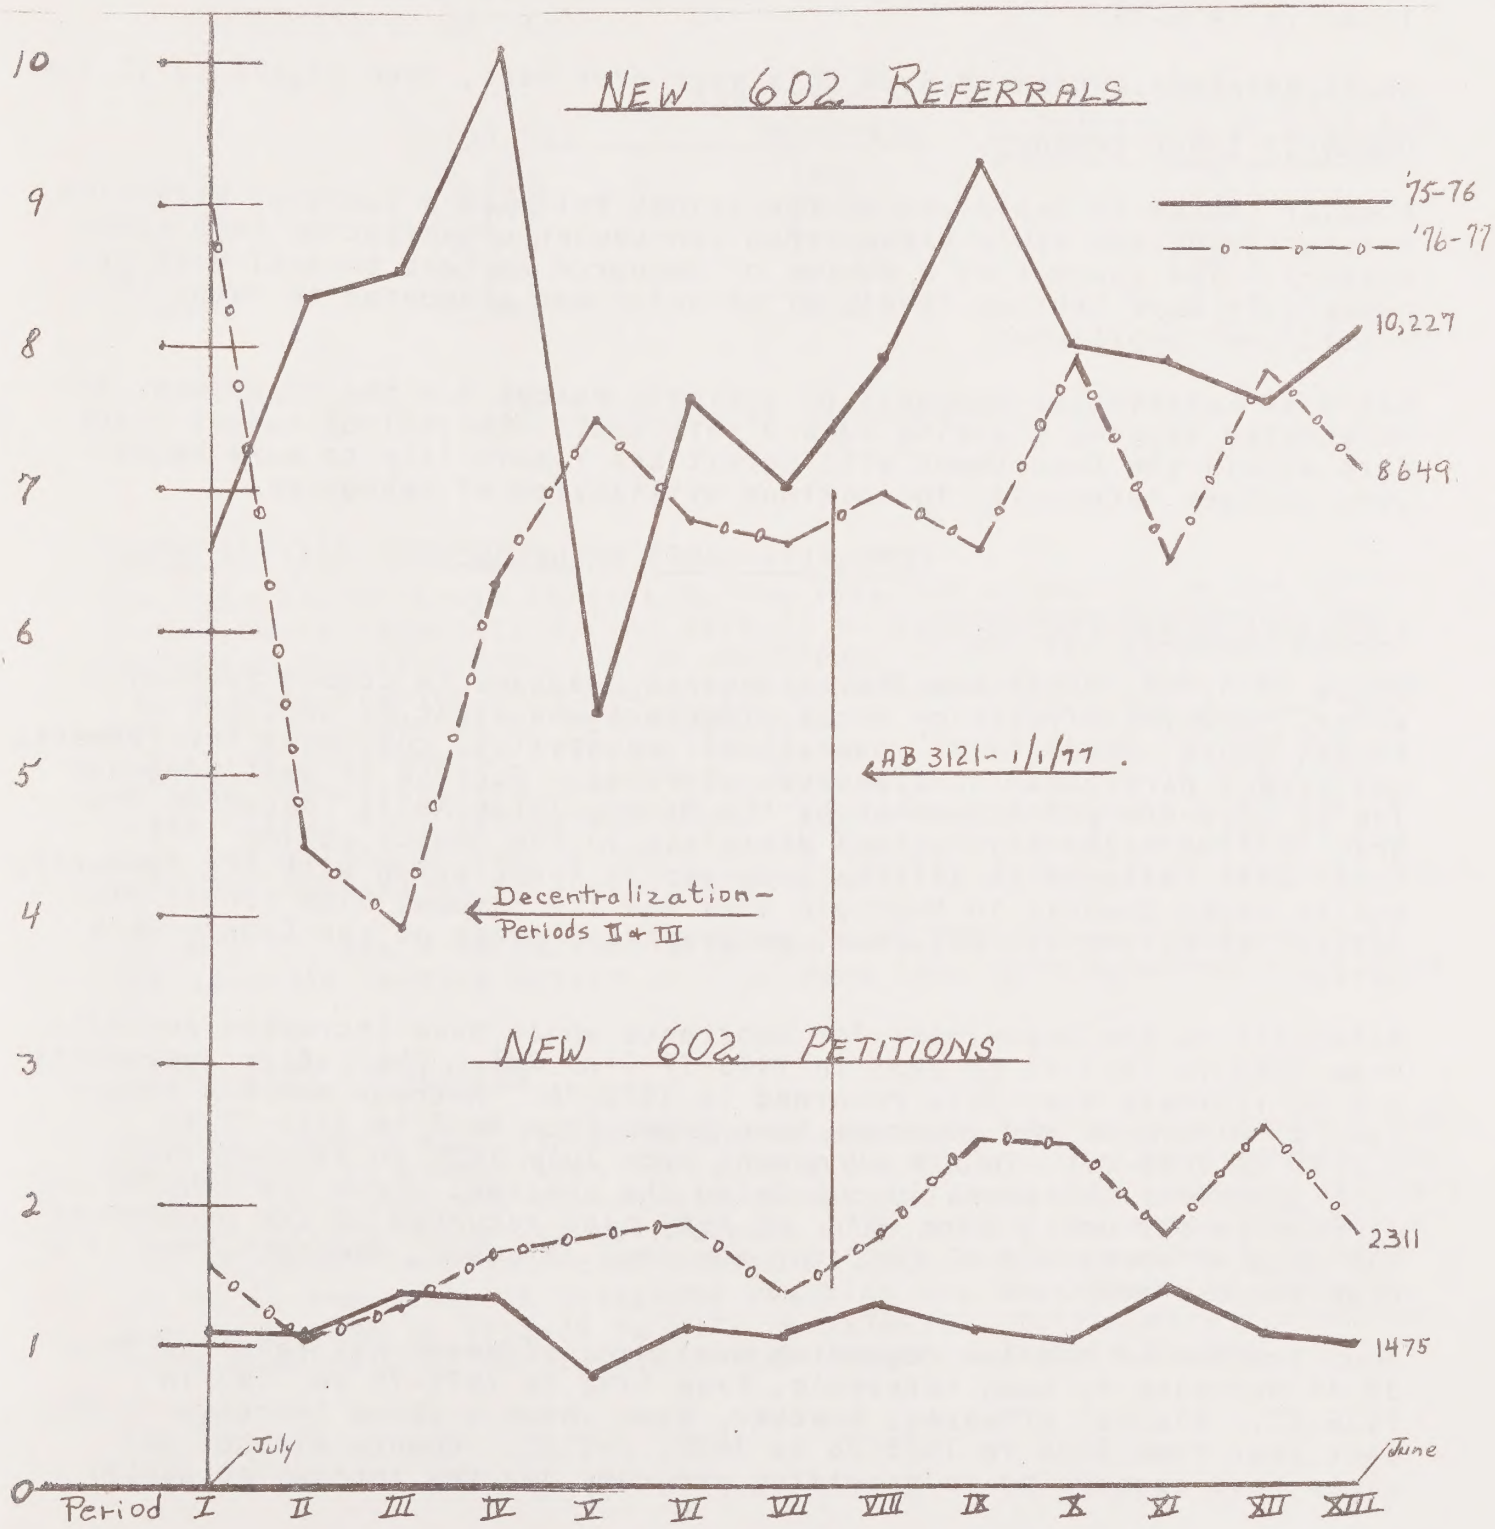
This same Bill also mandated participation of the District Attorney's Office in all 602 cases potentially requiring court action. Final decision as to filing a petition rests with the District Attorney. Numerous procedural changes have been instituted and logistical adjustments have been made to house members of the District Attorney's staff within the Department. Not only has the number of petitions filed on 602 cases

SANTA CLARA COUNTY JUVENILE PROBATION DEPARTMENT
THE 601 STORY -- 1975-76 AND 1976-77





increased sharply, but there has also been an increase in the number of counts per petition, all of which means a serious rise in certain workloads, for which there have been no offsetting increases in staff. A total of 4724 602 petitions (excluding modified court orders and orders of detention) were filed in 1976-77, up 23.1% from 3837 in 1975-76. New 602 petitions increased from last year's 1904 to 2311 (+21.4%) while new 602 referrals decreased 15.4% from 10,227 to 8649, as illustrated in the graph below. (Citation petitions are included in these "new" totals.).



Within this category, 517 petitions were filed on 602 citations compared with 429 in 1975-76, up 20.5%. Citation referrals, however, decreased from 6013 last year to 3725, down 38%. The pattern changes with 602 re-referrals, which showed an increase of 27.9% this year over last (4333 vs. 3386), and petitions on 602 re-referrals increased also by 24.8% to 2413 from 1933 in 1975-76. This represents 55.7% of 602 re-referrals petitioned this year compared with 57% last year, whereas 26.7% of new 602 referrals were petitioned in 1976-77 compared with 14.4% in 1975-76.

Court hearings increased 9.6% this year over last, from 11,820 to 12,954.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGES

A major change in Departmental operations followed a judicial directive restructuring the newly established ten-center organization into seven centers. The concept of a series of resource centers to deal with progressively more serious levels of behavior was abandoned in favor of traditional approaches.

Board of Supervisors approval of a single budget for the Department has culminated lengthy planning toward this goal. Control of budget transfers within the Department will permit the flexibility to make necessary changes internally for maximum utilization of resources.

COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS

SUBSTANCE ABUSE PREVENTION

Since 1970, the Department has sponsored programs to combat substance abuse, focusing efforts on first offenders who might be kept out of formal court proceedings. Educational counseling, community involvement, and parent participation have been stressed. Success of past programs led to expanded participation by the Metropolitan Adult Education Program in five major high school districts in the County during 1975. These were followed in 1976 by programs in cooperation with the Community Health Abuse Council in Mountain View and the Fremont High School District. By Spring of 1977, most geographical areas of the County were served.

Referrals to the Department for substance abuse have increased annually from 1623 in 1971-72 to 2933 in 1976-77 (+80.7%). The latter represents a 6.5% increase over 2753 recorded in 1975-76. Average monthly referrals of minors to the programs have grown from 48.7 in 1971-72 to 186.33 in 1976-77. In the 18 months from July 1975 to January 1976, 1311 juveniles successfully completed the program. From the conclusion of that period until June 1977, 62 (5%) have returned to the Department for drug offenses and 82 (6%) for non-drug offenses, demonstration of a high success rate.

Modification of the law regarding marijuana offenses has resulted in a 33.4% decrease in such referrals, from 1792 in 1975-76 to 1193 in 1976-77. Alcohol offenses, however, have shown a sharp increase in the past year from 1236 in 1975-76 to 1620, (+31%). County Alcohol Services have cooperated in providing programs for the increasing number of youth involved in alcohol offenses, and more community volunteers and school interns have become involved in the programs.

The increasing severity of the problem of substance abuse is illustrated in the following table showing substance abuse referrals as a proportion of 602's* during the past five years.

Prior years' "delinquent" statistics have been distributed retroactively between 601 and 602 to permit comparisons relating to AB 3121.*

YOUTH SERVICE BUREAUS

The East Valley Youth Service Bureau received a grant from the California Youth Authority during 1976-77 to expand its services to the Evergreen Planning Area. With additional staff, the expanded Bureau was able to provide direct services to 350 additional families during the first six months of operation, and to initiate major prevention/diversion programs in Citizens' Awareness, Shoplifting Prevention through Education, and Shoplifting Reduction. Bureaus in Milpitas, Santa Clara, West Valley and South County have continued programs in drug education, community improvement and petty theft reduction, and provided counseling to juveniles and families within their service areas.

In 1976-77, the five Bureaus diverted 4370 youth from involvement in the Juvenile Justice System -- 7.5% more than 4067 reported in 1975-76.

DELINQUENCY PREVENTION

Working closely with law enforcement agencies, and housed within police departments in communities throughout the County, the Delinquency Prevention Unit officers screen all citations, work with juvenile officers on appropriate cases and participate with police in school and community programs. A significant impact of this and YSB activity is seen in the 38.6% reduction in citations reaching the Department in 1976-77, down from 6098 in 1975-76 to 3741 in 1976-77. Delinquency Prevention Units handled 2171 cases outside the Juvenile Justice System.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION

The Probation Department is also responsible for providing specialized services to the Family Court Section of the Superior Court through investigation of custody and guardianship cases, stepparent adoptions, and petitions to declare a child free of parental control and custody. Custody-related workloads have risen as the population of the County has increased, with the year just closed showing a 9.6% increase over 1975-76 (1547 vs. 1412).

CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE TREATMENT PROGRAM

Under a State Demonstration and Training Grant, the Child Sexual Abuse Treatment Program provides counseling and supportive services to victims and families involved in problems of sexual molestation of children, as well as public information and education. Initiated in 1971, the program received State funding in 1975 to introduce the concept and model of the program to other communities in California. Its success has attracted nation-wide attention. Groups such as Parents United and Daughters United participate actively with the Department in this effort to bring to public attention and to alleviate the pervasive problem of child sexual abuse.

JUVENILE COURT WORK PROGRAM

The Work Program permits selected youth to participate in supervised community services projects designed to enable them to acquire useful skills toward future employment and to develop a sense of constructive activity toward community betterment. During the past year, Work Program minors have invested many hours working toward preservation of the Pichetti Ranch as a historical site. In cooperation with the City of Cupertino Parks and Recreation Commission, they have helped to develop a Day Camp on the grounds of the Ranch that is currently in use. Other programs center around reducing fire hazard by clearing heavily overgrown areas. This frequently requires manual labor where machinery cannot gain access.

JUVENILE DRIVER IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Since November of 1976, eligible juvenile traffic offenders have had the opportunity to attend traffic school under auspices of the Metropolitan Adult Education Program in lieu of fine and official report to the Department of Motor Vehicles. The program has been approved to continue for another year, carrying a fee of $16.00 paid by each participant. Community programs are continuing for minors charged with bicycle traffic offenses.

VOLUNTEERS

Effort of the Volunteer Services Unit is directed toward integrating community energies and resources into Departmental programs for maximum benefit to the children served by the Department, and to the public.

The Juvenile Center Auxiliary raised $11,000 during the past year to help finance recreational, cultural and educational programs for children under care of the Juvenile Court of the County of Santa Clara. Value of services represented by contribution of 24,000 individual volunteer hours and 3000 group volunteer hours is estimated at $81,000. Business, industry, private foundations, community groups, and individuals have donated material goods estimated at $22,000 in value.

Special programs operated through Volunteer Services are Foster Grandparents for children in detention facilities; Firefighters Youth Assistance Program -- in conjunction with the City of San Jose Fire Department; Summer Camps for Delinquent and Dependent Wards, Inc.; and Project J.O.B. (Juvenile Opportunities in Business) headed by a full-time employee loaned to the Department by Xerox Corporation, endeavoring to develop part-time employment opportunities for youth on probation (ages 16 to 18). Help in resolution of social problems as well as acquisition of skills that could lead to full-time employment are the goals of the program.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Total referrals to the Department, less Traffic, decreased by 4.4% from last year -- 21,827 compared with 22,843 in 1975-76, the decrease attributable to AB 3121 and to community-based efforts to divert youth from the Department.

Admissions to Juvenile Hall increased slightly, from 8987 in 1975-76 to 9058 in 1976-77, (+0.8%.). Types of offenses show strong trends toward increases in crimes against persons and more serious kinds of property offenses.

Review of all referrals shows increases in the majority of serious types of offense. Arson is an exception - down 23.2% from 99 last year to 76. Homicide also was down 23.1% from 13 to 10. Theft, including shoplifting dropped 34.6% from 3747 to 2451 - reflecting the Department's emphasis on handling lesser offenses at the community level. As might be expected, the 601 offenses all show sharp decreases compared with last year, i.e. Incorrigibility - down 44.5% from 1116 to 619; Runaway down 37% from 1043 to 657, Truancy -- down 26.6% from 30 to 22. Referrals for major offenses, however, have increased as follows:

	1975/76	1976/77	% Change
Robbery	219	263	+20.1
Assault & Battery	475	661	+39.1
Assault	230	319	+38.7
Burglary	2089	2192	+ 4.9
Auto Theft	643	879	+36.7
Rape (Forcible)	29	52	+79.3

Drunk in Public	347	375	+ 8.1
Traffic Violations	198	678	+242.4
Malicious Mischief	808	1116	+38.1

Referrals of dependent and neglected children increased 7.9% from 5241 in 1975-76 to 5656.

Delinquent Supervision caseloads diminished during the first part of the year, but rose sharply beginning in Spring. Caseload as of 6/30/77 stood at 2829, up 12.6% from 2511 reported in July 1976.

Dependent Supervision also shows an increase in caseload over the year from 196 families initially to 210 at year-end, +7.1%.

Complete Traffic statistics are not available this year due to revisions in reporting procedures. An estimate of 28,319 citations handled may be used as a "working figure," an increase of 7.8% over last year.

Workloads over the past four years appear on the pages following.

DEPARTMENTAL OPERATIONS

SCREENING ----- INTAKE ----- INVESTIGATION

Initial contact of youth referred to the Department is with officers in the Screening and Intake Units, who evaluate each case to best serve the needs of the minor within the concept of also protecting the community. Many of those children whose cases cannot be settled at Intake may be eligible for Informal Supervision for a period of up to six months under agreement reached between probation officers, the minor, and family. Those charged with more serious offenses may be detained in Juvenile Hall to allow time for a determination as to what further action should be taken. Decisions on filing 602 petitions rest with the District Attorney's Office, but probation officers carry out the investigations and prepare papers necessary for court action. Both Juvenile Probation Department probation officers and members of the District Attorney's staff appear in court when petitions are presented.

DETENTION SERVICES

CHILDREN'S SHELTER

Neglected or abused children in need of protective care may be referred to the Children's Shelter while investigations are conducted to determine the best solution to the problems that brought them there. Eleven officers in the two Dependent Intake Units conduct these investigations and file petitions when necessary on behalf of the children.

During the past year, completion of the new three-room C. W. Washington School at the Shelter provided welcome relief from overcrowding within the Shelter itself and freed space for recreational use. Admissions and Average Daily Population continued to rise in 1976-77, as shown in the Table following:

	73-74	74-75	75-76	76-77	% Change
Admissions	1063	1186	1234	1525	+23.6
Average Admissions per Mo.	88.6	98.8	102.8	127.0	+23.5
Average Daily Population	43.7	45.9	53.9	64.5	+19.7
Average Length of Stay per Child	15 days	15.8	19.4	20.0	+ 3.1

JUVENILE HALL

In March of 1977, the Board of Supervisors approved the Juvenile Hall building addition and construction was begun in April. Completion is expected before the end of 1978. New facilities will provide greatly improved services to the community through expanded medical facilities, interview and visiting space, as well as improved living space for juveniles in detention. Construction of a second-floor "shell" at this time will permit future completion of special handling units and air-conditioning for the entire facility.

Temporary access routes to Juvenile Hall and the Juvenile Court have been established and staff has successfully adapted operational procedures.

The graph below illustrates the continuing increases in admissions to Juvenile Hall for serious offenses. In 1976-77, crimes against persons increased 30.9% over 1975-76; crimes against property increased 14.7%; possession of weapons increased 11.7%, while overall bookings increased 0.8%.

COMMUNITY RELEASE PROGRAM

The Department is especially fortunate to have had two years experience with a Community Release Program prior to implementation of AB 3121 which mandated "Home Supervision Programs" in all counties in the State. The object of the program is to reduce the period of detention in Juvenile Hall for minors deemed eligible to return to their homes under specific contract provisions and intensive community supervision while awaiting dispositional hearing. During the past year, 267 youth were diverted from needless detention for an average of 15 days each, or a total of 4005 days. The success rate has been high, with 90 percent appearing for Court as scheduled; 8 percent returned to Juvenile Hall by staff for violation of contract, and 2 percent returning to the Hall for committing a new offense.

The Department's program evidently has served as a model for guidelines for operating standards specified in the legislative requirement in AB 3121.

REHABILITATION SERVICES

PLACEMENT

A Placement goal to provide community-based residential treatment, combining individual and family therapy, within the Bay Area is 70 percent achieved.

Concentrated efforts to bring about development of these resources within the local area has resulted in a reduction in placement costs both by effectively reducing the average length of stay required as well as the cost of providing essential support services to those placements.

During 1976-77, the Placement Section implemented an outcome-oriented case management and case recording system. Each case received in Placement is carefully examined at the outset for the purpose of establishing a Case Service Plan specific to that case. The plan includes:

1. Identification of the behavior to be corrected.

2. The principal recipients of probation services, in order of priority.

3. Projected time lines for achievement of objectives.

At year-end (6/30/77), there were 641 children in out-of-home placement under supervision of 18 probation officers in the three Placement Units.

RANCHES

Three Ranches are maintained by the County for rehabilitation of juveniles required by the Court to spend specified time periods in corrective detention. The William F. James Ranch houses boys between the ages of 16 and 18. Harold Holden Ranch population is boys, ages 13 to 15. The Muriel Wright Residential Center, formerly maintained as an all-girl facility, was made co-educational during the year to accommodate 16 boys between 12 and 15 years, in addition to 16 girls, in separate dormitories. Classes, counseling, and recreational programs are co-educational. The program is operating smoothly and cost-per-Ward maintenance at the Wright Center has been reduced by maintaining full capacity.

Toward year-end, approval of the California Youth Authority and the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors was received to expand capacity of both James and Holden Ranches from 80 to 100 each. This added space helps to alleviate overcrowding at Juvenile Hall by those juveniles awaiting Ranch placement.

A Predictable Release Program was instituted at all three Ranches to encourage positive behavior through establishment of goals to be reached by a minor wishing to become eligible for release on a specified date. Parents, legal counsel, and rehabilitation staff have all been involved with the minors in this effort. The County Bar Association has examined the program and commented favorably on its advancement in observing the rights of minors.

Program emphasis is being directed toward work projects in which the minor can "learn by doing" and a number of such projects should be in force during the forthcoming year.

SYSTEMS MANAGEMENT AND STAFF DEVELOPMENT

TRAINING

During the past year, the Board of Supervisors approved the first Clerical Trainer position for the Department. This permitted expansion of training opportunities to all staff and continuation of the focus on cost-benefit of staff development. STAR (System and Training Analysis of Requirements for criminal justice participants) is the training vehicle selected by the Department as offering the most effective method to increase staff awareness of the total criminal justice system, with the ultimate goal of providing better service to the public by use of methods presented in STAR. Training for Peace Officers, as mandated by Sec. 832 PC, was completed for counselors at Juvenile Hall and the three Ranches. In February, cross-Department training was introduced to include staff from law enforcement and corrections agencies with JPD groups. This pattern is expected to continue.
